

The Astonishing eruption

On 24th August

The day was restful. Markets opened, traders traded, jewels, gems and jewellery. Everybody loved shows and pantomimes.

Unexpectedly, the mountain erupted. Mountain Vesuvius sent dark clouds of ash and smoke in the sky. The melting lava covered the whole site with clumps of rock that killed. The people who were left were shocked while the rock and soot covered the whole place.

It was a beautiful place. It was a peaceful place and nothing bothered them but Pompeii was in grave danger.

Indescribably, was an eruption they thought it was a little shake but time passed and half of the buildings were broken down.

Groups of clouds turned grey with ash and soot within the sky. Everybody was scared it got really warm, it got even warmer and warmer. It felt like their brains were melting.

Unfortunately, it erupted at 100 miles and that meant nobody could get off the island and got covered with rock, dust, ash, soot and debris.

Many years later the mountain grew cool and still. The bodies were dug up. Scientists took samples and were untouched again
